EDITORIAL

It is a pleasure to send out this first issue of volume 5 of the GUIDE covering the quarter January-March, 1968.

GUIDE is one of the most rapidly growing information services in India. The current volume indexes more than 300 journals as against 140 in previous years. It will be seen from the list of journals given inside that fresh inclusions constitute a large number of representative journals in all areas of Social Sciences and Humanities. A number of central and state government periodicals have been added to ensure coverage of their policy statements, statistical data and points of view which provide important basic source material for research. Book reviews appearing in these journals are also being indexed as an additional feature.

GUIDE is a bibliographic service designed to give immediate access to the literature of Social Sciences and Humanities and will efficiently serve the librarians, the teachers, the research scholars and the students as a basic and comprehensive bibliography of current Indian periodical literature.

It is our privilege to have been helpful to librarians and scholars in India and abroad through our bibliographic services and would like to express our gratitude for their appreciation. We wish to grow and be helpful in an ever increasing measure and would welcome suggestions for improving the Guide.

The Cumulative volume for 1967 is in press and will be mailed by June end. The Cumulatives for 1964 and 1965 would also be released this year and the one for 1966 early next year.

HOW TO USE THE GUIDE TO INDIAN PERIODICAL LITERATURE

The Guide is a subject-author index to articles and other reading material appearing in about 300 Indian journals in the fields of Social Sciences and Humanities. The entries have been arranged alphabetically on the dictionary pattern.

Headings :

Whenever possible, entries are made under "subject" headings, e.g. Agriculture, Architecture, Community development, Folklore. Under geographic headings will be found, usually, material on the government, general defences, economic conditions, politics and social conditions etc. of the country, i.e. material too broad to be classified under subject headings. Entries are made under the most specific heading e.g., material on Jute has been listed under 'Jute' or 'Jute industry and trade' and not under 'Fibres', except where the amount of material is too small or where it is advantageous to collect related material under a single heading. Single short stories, dramas etc. have been listed under the names of their authors with cross references from their title entries. Book reviews have also been indexed under subjects and names of authors.

Sub Divisions :

Headings are subdivided whenever the amount of material entered there warrants it and the nature of the material permits it. The two types of subdivisions used in the Guide are (i) subheads (set in bold face type) and (ii) second subheads (set in light face italics). These subheads are also arranged in alphabetical order. Exceptions have been made in the case of headings which have been subdivided by general subheads as well as geographically in which case general subheads precede the geographical subheads. Thus Education—Standards will precede Education—India. Second subheads are also arranged alphabetically under the first subheads.

Alphabetization :

Headings are alphabetized on the word by word basis. Inverted headings precede univerted headings. Abbreviated headings viz., IMF appear at the beginning of each alphabet.

Inversions :

Multiple-word headings are inverted if a word other than the first is deemed to be the "key word" in identifying the heading (e.g. articles on American economic assistance are listed under 'Economic assistance, American', and not under 'American economic assistance'.)

Entries :

There are at least two entries for each article—an author entry and a subject entry except where there is no author. Additional subject entries have been made wherever the articles deal with more than one subject. The entries under subject headings are also arranged alphabetically.

Bibliographic Data :

Each entry starts with the title of the article followed by the name of the author (where there is any), the abbreviated title of the journal, volume and issue number, page numbers and other information such as illustrations, bibliography etc. A plus (+) sign following the page number indicates that the article has been carried over to some other page in the same issue. Explanations of other abbreviations used in the Guide have been given under "Abbreviations and Signs". A sample entry given under "Abbreviations & Signs" will illustrate the above procedure.

Cross-References :

All related headings are covered by cross-references or by duplicate entries. While a 'See also' reference draws attention of the readers to related subject heading which they might usefully look up,a 'See' reference indicates that entries have been listed under the subject heading to which the reference has been drawn.
